

To whom it may concern: I feel that the NAB really should look at the issue the following way. It's only because other stations like local TV's and radio are more likely worked up because they fear that listeners like my self will tune to XM radio for weather and traffic reports instead of tuning into their locals stations for it. XM radio does a very fine job on broadcasting weather and traffic report and such broadcast is there for us 24/7, that means we can get these information when we want them and therefore unlike local broadcasting stations we do NOT have to wait whenever they are ready to broadcast if they ever decide to. A lot of the local broadcasting stations take forever in a day to broadcast weather and traffic report, some are really good on broadcasting such informations on a regular bases and some of them are not. XM instant weather and traffic is there on an 24/7 bases and I think that comes in really handy for the nation, I know it really helps me a ! lot.
